Free or discounted computer software for Bellevue University students:

Bellevue University is pleased to announce the introduction of a new online store offering free or discounted computer software to current students.

The store offers a large selection of software from Microsoft, Adobe, VMware, IBM and other vendors. An account has been authorized for all current students. If you have not already done so, you must activate your account before you can access the store.

The steps required to activate your account are detailed below.

If you did not already have an established account, you should have received an email from noreply@kivuto.com like the one in the screen shot below. Students who already have an account may not receive this email. If this applies to you, please click here to be directed to the logon page.

Please note, this email will come from noreply@kivuto.com, if you do not see this in your inbox please check your junk mail folder.

A valid Guest Operating System license is required and is sold separately.

When you purchase a product, please ensure you download the product and record the product key. This key will be required when you install the software. Access to this (download AND product key) is available for a limited time, to gain access to it after the end of this period requires payment for extended access. The key is valid for the published period, it is just access to the download link and product key that is limited.

Immediately download the product from the confirmation page or download it later from the link in the confirmation email you receive after you purchase the product*

*Note: You may be prompted to install MSDN's Secure Download Manager (an .msi file and an .sdx file). Allow both of these files to run

Make sure to keep a record of your Product Key, so you can activate the program after installing it

Following the completion of your registration, you should receive another email confirming your user name and providing a link to the site, similar to this

NOTE: The discounted software is only available to current students, proof of eligibility may be required to complete the purchase of any product from this site. For details of the terms and conditions please check the online store
